

AUTHOR PROFILES

Dmitry K. Labin is a Professor of International Law at the Moscow State Institute of International Relations attached to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs (MGIMO-University, Russia). He is a member of editorial board of the Moscow Journal of International Law. Professor Labin was awarded a degree of a Doctor of Legal Sciences by the Russian Academy of Sciences for his post-Ph.D. doctorate dissertation titled, “The International Law on World Economic Order.” Prior to that Dr. Labin defended his candidate research thesis (Ph.D.) at the Institute of State and Law attached to the Russian Academy of Sciences. He got a Diploma from The Hague Academy of International Law (Research Centre). Professor Labin was a visiting fellow (2013-2016) at the University of Central Lancashire (UK)-UCLAN Cyprus with the intensive module on the WTO Law. Dr. Labin is the author of many articles published, inter alia, in the American Journal of International Law and the European Journal of International Law and several books including The International Law on Encouraging and Protecting Foreign Investments (Walters Kluwer, 2008, 2d ed. in 2019). Professor Labin is a co-author of a number of textbooks on International Law, International Economic Law, and International European Law. He may be contacted at: d.labin@inno.mgimo.ru

Alena V. Soloveva is an Associate at an international law firm (Kennedys) where she is heavily involved in complex commercial litigation cases. Alena is also a Ph.D. candidate in International Law at the Moscow State Institute of International (MGIMO-University, Russia). Previously, she studied international law of foreign investment and obtained a Master’s degree from University College London. In addition, she worked at a London’s only public international law boutique focusing on high-value investment treaty arbitrations. Alena has been advising private entities and States on a variety of international law issues, including foreign investment and M&A contentious and non-contentious legal matters. She may be contacted at: helena.soloveva@gmail.com.

Ernst-Ulrich Petersmann is emeritus professor for International and European law and former Head of the Law Department of the European University Institute (EUI), Florence. During 40 years, he has combined teaching of European and international law at numerous universities in Europe, Africa, Asia, North and South America with legal practice as legal advisor in the German Ministry of Economic Affairs, representative of Germany in the UN, the NATO and European institutions, legal counsellor in GATT, legal consultant for the EU, OECD, UNCTAD and the WTO, and secretary, member of chairman of GATT/WTO dispute settlement panels. Professor Petersmann studied law and economics at the Universities of Berlin, Heidelberg, Freiburg (Germany), Geneva and the LSE. He received his Habilitation in 1989 for Swiss and German Public Law, European Law and International Law at the University of Fribourg (Switzerland). Dr. Petersmann has served as chairman of the International Trade Law Committee of the International Law Association (1999-2014) and has published 30 books and more than 300 contributions to books and journals on international and European law. He may be contacted at: Ulrich.petersmann@eui.eu.

Giuseppe Martinico is currently an Associate Professor of Comparative Public law at the Scuola Superiore Sant'Anna, Pisa, Italy. Prior to joining the Scuola Sant'Anna, Professor Martinico was García Pelayo Fellow at the Centro de Estudios Políticos y Constitucionales (CEPC), Madrid and Max Weber Fellow at the European University Institute, Florence. He has also held the position of visiting researcher at the University of Barcelona, Université de Montréal, University of Geneva, King's College London, and the Tilburg Institute of Comparative and Transnational Law (TICOM). He is also Editor of the Sant'Anna Legal Studies (STALS: <http://www.stals.sssup.it>) and of the Rivista di Diritti Comparati.

Yuanchao Bi is a trainee solicitor at Herbert Smith Freehills' Hong Kong office. He completed his LL.B. degree with first class honours at the City University of Hong Kong. Then, Yuanchao pursued his LL.M. degree at the London School of Economics and Political Science, with a focus on international business law and public international law. Yuanchao is interested in public international law (especially the investment treaty law) and competition/consumer law, seeking to understand legal issues with the interplay between law and its underlying social, historical and economic factors, and to propose practical solutions. During his studies, Yuanchao took part in a number of research projects in the field of public international law, constitutional law and general corporate law, and received recognition for his work. He is keen to continue the research after starting his career as a legal professional.

Wei Shen is KoGuan Distinguished Professor of Law at Shanghai Jiao Tong University Law School. Professor Shen got Ph.D. (LSE), LL.M. (Cantab), LL.M. (U. Michigan), and LL.M. & LL.B. (ECUPL). He joined the New York Bar and was practicing law for a decade, mostly in Hong Kong, on foreign direct investment, private equity and M&A. His main research interests include financial regulation, corporate governance, international investment law and commercial arbitration. He has published more than 200 articles in Chinese and English journals. Professor Shen has authored many books including Chinese Business Law-Narrative and Commentary (Wolters Kluwer 2016) and edited book Private Law in China and Taiwan-A Law and Economics Approach (2016). His article was cited by the Supreme Court of Singapore. He is an arbitrator with London Court of International Arbitration, Hong Kong International Arbitration Centre, Singapore International Arbitration Centre, Korean Commercial Arbitration Board (International), Shanghai International Arbitration Centre, Shanghai Arbitration Commission, China International Economic and Trade Arbitration Commission, Shenzhen International Court of Arbitration, among others.

Hsing-Hao Wu is currently an Associate Professor at Department of Financial and Economic Law of National University of Kaohsiung (NUK), Taiwan. He is also Dean of Office of International Affairs and Director of International Relation Research Center, NUK. Professor Wu obtained his S.J.D. from School of Law, Indiana University-Bloomington.

His teaching and research fields encompass the comparative environmental law and policy, international trade and environmental law, and technology safety law. Dr. Wu has organized numerous international workshops and guest lectures mostly in the area of environmental law, trade and innovative technology governance issues. His recent research and publication focuses on climate change impacts to environment, economic, and society as a whole and their potential legal and institutional responses in the context of water resource management, flood control, disaster management, and energy transition. Professor Wu is also a frequent speaker to many international conferences and academic events such as the European University Institute, Hokkaido University, Okayama University, Korean Legislation Research Institute, Chinese Hong Kong University, and Wuhan University.

Hongwu Yin currently an Associate Professor of International Law at Hunan Normal University Law School. From 2002 and 2013, he was teaching Business English in the Foreign Studies College of Hunan Normal University. Shortly after obtaining a Ph.D. degree in international law in 2012, Dr. Yin transferred to do research international law at Law School of the same university from the beginning of 2014. He got a M.A. degree in English linguistics and applied linguistics from Zhejiang University in 2002. He studied English language and literature from Hunan University of Science and Technology.

Aleksandr P. Alekseenko is an Associate Professor at the Department of Civil Law Disciplines of Vladivostok State University of Economics and Service (Russia). Also, he is a member of the Association of Lawyers of Russia, Member of the Public Council under the Ministry for Development of the Russian Far East and Arctic and an independent expert accredited to conduct anti-corruption expertise of regulatory legal acts. Aleksandr received his Magister Juris (summa cum laude) from the Far Eastern Federal University and a Ph.D. in Laws from the Ural State Law University (Yekaterinburg, Russia). He also studied Chinese language at the Linyi Normal University. His expertise covers International Investment Law, Legal Regulation of Digital Financial Assets, Russian Company Law, and Chinese Business Law. Aleksandr has more than 40 publications. He is the principal investigator of the Project titled, “Ensuring the rights of investors in the banking and financial sectors in the context of the digitalization of the economy in the Russian Federation and the leading financial centers of East Asia: a comparative legal aspect” (funded from Russian Foundation for Basic Research).

Iuliia Yu. Popova is an Associate Professor in Constitutional and Public Law at the Far Eastern Federal University School of Law, Russia. She got a Ph.D. in constitutional law at the Far Eastern Federal University in 2010. Between 2007 and 2011, Professor Popova was working as deputy of the member of Primorsky Region Legislative Assembly. She is serving as Head of the Far Eastern Federal office of the Association of Lawyers of Russia (2017-2020), member of Interregional Association of Constitutionalists, and member of the Scientific Council for drafting constitutional amendments in the Primorsky Region Legislative Assembly (2020). Her research interests focus on Constitutional Law, Administrative Law, Comparative Law, Tax Law, legal regulation of Special Economic Zones. She may be contacted at: popova.yuyu@dvfu.ru

Olga E. Shishkina is an Associate Professor at the Department of Constitutional and Administrative Law at the Far Eastern Federal University (FEFU) School of Law, Russia since 2011. She got a Ph.D. in Law at the Far Eastern National University in 2004. Her major is Administrative Law and Constitutional Law. Professor Shishkina has published the numerous scientific articles in the Russian journals. She made presentations at international conferences delivering a number of expert opinions for public authorities, including the Supreme Court of the Russian Federation. Her research focus is on the sphere of the administrative coercion and state restrictions of the human rights. Recently, Professor Shishkina is interested in the issues of administrative liability offenses in the comparative aspects. She is a member of the Russian Association of the Constitutionalists. She may be contacted at: shishkina.oe@dvfu.ru.

Stuart Malawer holds a Ph.D. from the Dept. of International Relations at the University of Pennsylvania. He has a J.D. from the Cornell Law School and a Diploma from The Hague Academy of International Law (Research Centre). He also studied at the Harvard Law School and St. Peter's College at Oxford University. Professor Malawer was a member of the Virginia Governor's trade missions to China, India, and Japan. Dr. Malawer was awarded the Hardy Cross Dillard Award by the Virginia State Bar, in recognition of serving as Chairman of its International Practice Section and Special Editor of the Virginia Lawyer. Most recently, he published articles on the US-China trade litigation, Trump's trade policies, and cybersecurity. Recent books have included Global Trade and International Law (2012), U.S. National Security Law (2009), and WTO Law, Litigation and Policy (2007). Professor Malawer served as the Director and Founder of the Graduate International Transactions Program at George Mason University (a master's program in international affairs). He was subsequently named the Distinguished Service Professor of Law & International Trade, as well as the Director of the Oxford Trade Program. This program was held annually in partnership with St. Peter's College at Oxford and Geneva. The GMU Alumni Association named Professor Malawer the Distinguished Faculty Member of the Year. He was a gubernatorial appointee to the Virginia Economic Development Partnership and recently to the Virginia International Trade Committee. He may be contacted at: StuartMalawer@msn.com